

June 1995

A: Division: ACADEMIC

DATE:

 New Course:

Department: ENGLISH and CO

Revision of Course
information form: X

DATED: November 1987

Studies in Fiction E: 3

C: ENGLISH 106 D:

This course emphasizes the close reading of novels and short stories, principally from the modern period. Students will read at least three different kinds of fiction, such as realistic fiction, fantasy, science fiction, romance, and allegory.

Prerequisites:

None

Instruction: Hours-Per-Week/

4 Hrs.

I: Course Corequisites:

Lecture

Laboratory Hrs.

 Hrs.

None

Seminar Hrs.

 Hrs.

J: Course for which this course is

Clinical Experience Hrs.

 Hrs.

 Hrs.

Field Experience Hrs.

 Hrs.

All second year level

 Hrs.

English courses

Shop

 Hrs.

Studio Hrs.

 Hrs.

K: Maximum Class Size:
35

Student Directed Learning Hrs.
Other Hrs.

M: Transfer Credit:

TOTAL 4 HOURS

College Credit Transfer X

Requested
Granted

Course Equivalents or

 Specify

Students

N: Textbooks and materials to be purchased by s

Six and Other Stories

Scarlet Letter

Conrad: The Secret Agent

Orwell: Animal Farm

Chekhov, Ward

Hawthorne, Th

Conrad: The Secret Agent

Orwell: Animal Farm

Course Objectives; P.

Complete Form with entries under the following headings: 0- COURSE OBJECTIVES

Course Objectives

Course Contents; Y. COURSE OBJECTIVES

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Reading

The student will learn the relation between the particulars of a work of literature and the meaning of the whole work by learning to

1) read attentively and receptively;

D COURSE CONTENT

Selected literary texts (see sample list)

Major portion of the course will be devoted to instruction in writing critical essays on literary subjects.

Q. METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

will be used

Some or all of the following methods will

- interviews
- group work and peer editing
- commentary on student's written work

R. COURSE EVALUATION

A minimum of two academic essays with a combined value of at least 40% of the course grade.

reports.

A student must achieve a grade of C- or better (on first submission) on at least one © Douglas College. All Rights Reserved.