

A. Division: APPLIED PROGRAMS Date: January, 1993

B. Department: COMMERCE AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION New Course:

Dated: June, 1991

C. OADP 124 Subject & Course No.	D. ANATOMY, PHYSIOLOGY & PHARMACOLOGY Descriptive Title	Semester/Credits
--	---	------------------

E. Calendar Description:

Summary of Revisions:

by the study of prefixes, (Enter date and Section abbreviations and pronunciation of words. Anatomy and office assistant inclusion of the	This course is designed to teach the medical language (Revised) suffixes, root words vocabulary, terminology, to better enable the medic students to communicate with health care professionals
---	---

NAME AND NUMBER OF COURSE

Member, Ruth and Dana Wood, The Ho

NAME AND NUMBER OF COURSE

P. COURSE CONTENT Continued

3.0 Introduction to the Disease Process

3.1 causes and predisposing causes of

3.2 incidence of disease

3.3 communicable, epidemic, and endemic disease

3.5 infection and modes of transmission

3.6 pathogenic organisms

3.7 cross-infection

4.0 Gross-Intestine

4.1 Alphabetical

4.1 Digestive Sys

4.1 vocabula

4.1 the dige

disease

bone

ry, foot-words, suffixes, prefixes, abbreviations and pronunciation of words pertaining to sbive system

