

N. Textbooks and Materials to be Purchased by Students (Use Bibliographic Form):

(Prentice-Hall, 1991).

O. Course Objectives; P. Course Content; Q. Method of Instruction; R. Course Evaluation

Complete Form with Entries Under the Following Headings:

O. COURSE OBJECTIVES

General

The main purposes of the course are:

1. to introduce students to the basics of ethical theory; to encourage students to develop an understanding of the moral controversies which arise in business and in other environments; to develop the ability to demonstrate a systematic understanding of the ethical theories and concepts covered in the course; to develop an understanding of the moral controversies covered in the course; to develop the ability to accept and develop their own reasoning about the moral controversies.

Specific

Students will

4. the ability to accept
5. the ability to dev

ENT

P. COURSE CONT

Instruction In this course will cover the following five areas:

1. The nature of ethics-- including the relation between ethics & morality, and morality & law; A simple introduction to the basic types of ethical theories: such as, consequentialism (e.g.

3

Subject and Course Number

(P. Course Content Continued)

